12 October 2010

Dear Colleagues

On 18 August 2010 I contacted you by email sent to grlonline@agu.org and pubmatters@agu.org to express our concerns about the review process of our manuscript (010GL043834). All relevant correspondence, including a reply from the GRL Editor-in-Chief, is listed below and the relevant attachment is also included.

In my email I notified you that my co-authors and I would like to reserve the right to place an account of our case in the public domain. Since by this time, 12 October 2010, I have not received any further note from you considering our case, I conclude that you do not have any objections. Nevertheless, I would like to make sure that this is indeed the case. If I do not hear from your within the coming ten days, I will presume that you do not have any relevant concerns that could constrain our intention to make this case public.

Yours sincerely,
Anastassia Makarieva
